Message

I welcome the initiative of the American Chamber of Commerce in Bangladesh (AmCham) and the Embassy of the United States of America in Dhaka to jointly organize the 30th US Trade Show. On this occasion, I convey my heartfelt felicitations to all the participants and organizers as well.

Bangladesh is endowed with a young and industrious population and a large domestic market. The Government remains committed to improving the business and investment environment so that both domestic and foreign investors can operate with greater ease and confidence. Bangladesh has already developed strong expertise in ready-made garments, leather, pharmaceuticals and agriculture, while making steady progress in information technology and other emerging sectors. I, therefore, invite the investors from the United States to take advantage of Bangladesh's growing investment opportunities, particularly in emerging, technology-driven and high-value sectors.

Diplomatic relations between our two countries date back to 1972, and the United States remains the largest single-country destination for Bangladesh's exports. I call upon the business communities of both countries to further advance the partnership based on mutual development and shared prosperity, thereby contributing to the enduring friendship between Bangladesh and the United States.

I hope the US Trade Show will continue to serve as an effective platform for generating greater interest and fostering closer engagement between the business communities of our two countries. I am confident that the US Trade Show will further strengthen our bilateral trade and economic relations, and open new avenues for investment and partnership between Bangladesh and the United States.

I wish the 30th US Trade Show every success.

Mirza Fakhrul Islam Alamgir
