Career Objective:

As a dedicated Scientific Officer at Bangladesh Rice Research Institute (BRRI), I aim to contribute to sustainable agricultural advancements through innovative rice research. With a strong commitment to enhancing rice crop yield, productivity, resilience, and nutritional quality, I seek to support food security and economic growth in Bangladesh. My goal is to leverage scientific knowledge, research methodologies, and cross-disciplinary collaborations to drive impactful solutions for the agricultural sector.

Career Summary:

A dedicated and detail-oriented Scientific Officer at the Bangladesh Rice Research Institute (BRRI), specializing in rice research & development. With a strong background in agricultural science, I am much committed to advancing sustainable rice production techniques & addressing the challenges faced by the agricultural sector in Bangladesh. My work focuses on research innovation, field trials & the extension of high-yielding & climate resilient rice varieties. I possess expertise in data analysis, scientific experimentation, & collaborative project execution, aiming to greatly enhance rice productivity and support food security initiatives at both national & global levels.
