Sustainable Bangladesh

ABOUT

Sustainable Bangladesh champions jute — the country's "golden fibre" — as a fully biodegradable, recyclable and environmentally friendly material well placed to meet rising global demand. A versatile natural fibre with a long industrial heritage, jute yields yarn and twine, sacking, hessian, carpet-backing cloth and textile blends, and is increasingly favoured for rigid packaging, reinforced plastics and pulp and paper in place of wood. The enterprise places social impact at its core: its diversified jute ventures create livelihoods for rural and urban women and the underemployed, contributing meaningfully to poverty alleviation. A particular specialty is food-grade, vegetable-oil-treated (VOT) jute products. Address: Kittaniapara, Gorgram, Nilphamari.

EXHIBITS

- Handicrafts: Jute & cotton rugs, macramé, seagrass / corn-husk / palm-leaf / water-hyacinth baskets, pineapple- & banana-fibre baskets, bamboo & cane crafts
- Diversified jute: Garden items, shopping bags, table & dining items, felt, rugs, Christmas decoratives, toys
- Traditional jute: Yarn, hessian cloth & bags, sacking, carpet-backing cloth, sliver, sand bags, rope
