

Some Facts About Four TCCAs under Serajgonj Integrated Rural Development Project

(Published in November, 1979)

a) Researcher's Identity

1. M.A. Mannan
Deputy Director
M.A. (Psychology), Rajshahi University
M.S. (Communication), Michigan State University, USA

b) Objectives

- i. To study the activities of SIRDP project; and
- ii. To make some recommendation for further improvement of project.

c) Executive summary

The Rural Development Academy, Bogra as per its commitment has appointed four Field Supervisors and eight Field Investigators to collect information on various aspects of Serajgonj Integrated Rural Development Project (SIRDP). In each of the four Thanas under the project one Field Supervisor and two Field Investigators have been posted. The Field Supervisors have started their work in the project from July, 1979 and the Field Investigators from September. In order to get themselves acquainted with different components of the project after some theoretical orientation in the Academy, they went to respective Thanas of their posting and started meeting personnel of different project implementing agencies and collecting available information from various official reports. On the basis of this information some guideline and proforma have been designed to study the actual status of various project components in the field. The Field Supervisors and Field Investigators have started visiting different projects in their respective thanas and collecting necessary information from various sources in the field.

The author is planning to take up a study on cooperative component of the project. To start with, some basic information on four TCCAs under SIRDP has been collected from official records. This report has been prepared with all these information in order to give a general overview about functions of cooperative under SIRDP. This is in no way a complete report and findings are to be substantiated with relevant data from the field. The information presented in the report has covered upto June, 1979.

