1 INTRODUCTION

The special characteristics of the coast, calling for approaches to development that are distinctive to those for the rest of the country, is reflected in ‘A National Strategy for Economic Growth, Poverty Reduction and Social Development (ERD, 2003)’, which identifies the need for accelerated development for:

“The deprived population of char areas, coastal and hard-to reach areas under special rural development programs through both government and NGO/CBO efforts. Area specific programs will be emphasized for integrated development of the disadvantaged localities and population groups” (ERD, 2003: 39).

The need for such area specific programs in coastal Bangladesh was recognized in a number of earlier initiatives and the policies and programs of many government agencies. The earlier initiatives include:

- ◇ the Off-Shore Islands Development Board (1977-82);
- ◇ the Bangladesh National Conservation Strategy (1987);
- ◇ the UN/ESCAP-GoB Coastal Environment Management Plan for Bangladesh (1987-88);
- ◇ the formation and activities of the Special Parliamentary Committee on Coastal Area Development (1988-90); and
- ◇ the Coastal Area Resource Development and Management Association (CARDMA).

At present, at least 30 or more major projects are active in the coastal zone, supported by many development partners and Govt. of Bangladesh and implemented by a number of GoB agencies and NGOs. These projects are contributing to the over-all development of coastal zone, each with its own objectives, targets and stakeholders. All of these projects are building blocks of coastal zone development.

The origin of the present process of integration, however, started in 1999 when a Policy Note on Concepts and Issues in Integrated Coastal Zone Management in Bangladesh was prepared by a number of senior officials from several ministries and departments. This followed a study tour by these officials in South-East Asia and the preparation of a Concept Note and Development Process in ICZM by a joint donor identification mission. Through further donor missions and discussions within GoB it was agreed that a small office, the Program Development Office for Integrated Coastal Zone Management Plan (PDO-ICZMP) should be established. A number of facilitating inter-agency institutional structures including an Inter-Ministerial Steering Committee and a Technical Committee were conceptualized and made operational with the Ministry of Water Resources as the lead Ministry and the Water Resources Planning Organisation as the lead agency.

To ensure a rapid start to this process, existing funds of the Meghna Estuary Study (funded by the Government of the Netherlands) were used to recruit an interim team of consultants, including a team leader, to start activities from January 2000. This bridging phase, which lasted until July 2001, was followed by an interim phase, funded by the Netherlands, that lasted to January 2002. During this interim phase, DfID joined with the Netherlands to support the coastal development process and terms of reference for a joint project were prepared and consultants were selected. The present office started formally from February 2002.

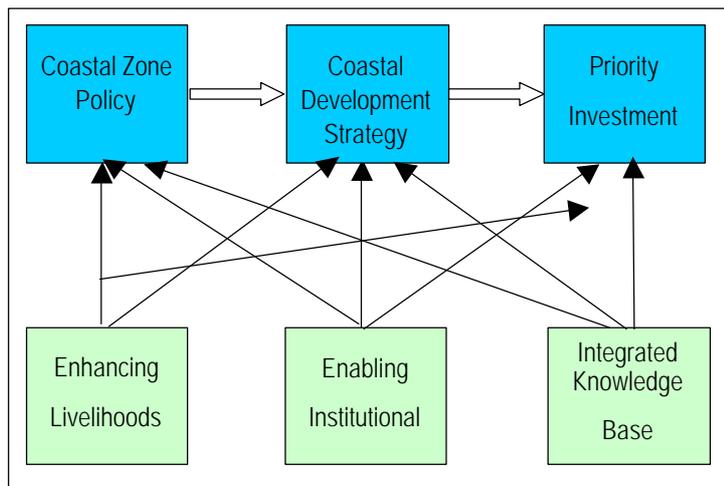

General approach & output

The purpose of ICZMP is taken as to help overall coastal development. This represents a change from the current situation characterized by “open access” to all comers and the unsustainable exploitation of resources, low level of transparency and little stakeholder participation in management to a desired future situation characterized by sustainable, structured, rational and transparent coastal zone management with low levels of resource conflict, high levels of stakeholder participation and a skilled, supportive institutional environment. This process of change aims to enhance community development and improve livelihood conditions paying due attention to different social variables, including gender.

The challenge is to develop an innovative approach to make the above meaningful and operational. The PDO-ICZMP Project organized a Dialogue on Conceptualization and Design during the period between September 29 and October 06, 2002 to further conceptualize the ICZM output and approaches. A total of 57 participants attended this Dialogue representing GoB agencies, NGOs and development partners.

This Dialogue re-emphasized the need for the six outputs but categorized three of them as key outputs (the Coastal Zone Policy (CZPo); the Coastal Development Strategy (CDS); and the Priority Investment Program (PIP)) and three others as cross-cutting themes (the improvement of community capacities to enhance their livelihoods; an enabling institutional environment; and the knowledge base). This was endorsed at the 5th Inter-Ministerial Technical Committee on ICZMP held on April 20, 2003.

Coastal Zone Policy (CZPo)

The main purpose is to formulate and agree on a complementing process of harmonization of individual sectoral policies and planning activities and to establish a process of ICZM, which facilitates improvement of community livelihoods and enhances the benefits of development efforts. The CZPo will be drafted through a carefully designed process and in close interaction with other organizations.

The Coastal Zone Policy (CZPo) lays down GoB's vision, objectives and principles of ICZM. Such a policy would identify the intended beneficiaries of a CZPo, stress the harmonization of different sectoral policies and clear the ground for an enhanced interaction between different levels of government. GoB's aim to develop ICZM as a process to improve livelihood conditions of coastal communities will be clearly reflected in this policy. This would include the development of government capabilities for implementing the critical steps for subsidiarity and decentralization.

Supporting studies

The following studies were carried out to support the formulation of the CZPo.

- An updated 'Coastal Zone Management: An analysis of Different Policy Documents' has been finalized and circulated (January 2003).
- Following the activity above, an assessment of implementation of existing sectoral policy documents has been finalized and circulated (April 2003). This assessment has been prepared by discussing with 84 personnel from 13 different ministries and agencies.

- Following the results obtained in earlier studies, an initiative was taken to analyze the formulation process of selected policies and subsequent strategies and plans (August 2003). The draft report accommodates comments and suggestions from various ministries and agencies.
- Attempts have been made for the delineation of the coastal zone. A proposal was made and discussed during the 5th Inter- Ministerial Technical Committee (TC) meeting on April 20, 2003. As per decision of the TC, the elaborated proposal was sent to all agencies and a number of agencies submitted comments. Accommodating these comments, a delineation of the coastal zone was adopted at the 6th Inter- Ministerial Technical Committee (TC) meeting on October 25, 2003.

Drafting CZPo

The drafting of the CZPo is also a process and has gone through several steps.

- An outline was prepared and presented during the Dialogue in Sept./Oct. 2002.
- An annotated outline of the CZPo was prepared in February 2003, based on an agreed structure discussed during the Dialogue.
- This annotated outline was discussed with a group of selected experts on March 06 and March 08, 2003 resulting in a preliminary draft
- This preliminary draft was presented at a national workshop on May 12, 2003. Secretary, MoWR and His Excellency the Ambassador of the Netherlands in Bangladesh participated the workshop as special guests. A total of 47 participants -- representing various ministries, government departments, development partners and NGOs -- attended the workshop.
- Based on discussions and comments made during the workshop, written comments forwarded separately and intensive internal discussion, the 1st draft was prepared in August 2003.
- A Bangla version of the draft was prepared in September 2003.
- This Bangla version of the draft Coastal Zone Policy was discussed at all 19 coastal district towns, facilitated by the district administration during September-October, 2003.

Proceedings of each of these meetings are described in this document

Summary of comments and suggestions given by the participants	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • One of the major natural disasters in the Cox's Bazar region is Earthquake. • Eco-tourism has great potential ensuring that proper facilities are present and security is given to the tourists. • Island tourism could be a good option • Environmental awareness should be raised among the common people • The mangrove forest in the Teknaf region is degrading. Valuable trees are stolen from the forests everyday. Shrimp cultivation / farming is another reason for degradation. • Pourashava should be considered as a local level institution while designing institutional arrangement for ICZM • River erosion is a grave concern, especially in islands, like, Kutubdia and Maheshkhali • Natural forests and mangroves should be conserved. Demand of fuel wood is one of the major cause of forest destruction. Gas supply should be there to reduce forest destruction • Shrimp fry collection is doing harm to the marine and aquatic resources. It should be stopped • Hill cutting is going on rapaciously. This should be stopped • Settlement of the landless is a major concern for the administration. Land settlement and khas land distribution policy should be properly implemented • On-going gas and oil exploration initiative in the Cox's bazaar region might be responsible for the earth quake • The pollutants from the ships are degrading the marine water quality • The in-migrants from neighboring country (Myanmar) constitute almost 10-12% of the total population of Cox's Bazar. The local power brokers are helping them to get political benefit. In this regard the system of issuing Nationality Certificates should be revised. • The Population Control initiative of the Government should be strengthened • Tourism should be developed. In this regard the construction of marine drive

District	Cox's Bazar
	should be accelerated <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In Maheshkhali island proper infrastructure should be built for effective water circulation and drainage • Health services are not good enough in the district. The women are suffering more from health problem • Proper zoning and land use planning is necessary • Maintenance of embankment should be responsibility of local government • The salt production policies should be properly implemented • Commercial exploitation of minerals from the beach sands should be envisaged • Different departments have different rules and regulations and mode of activity even for the same type of works. Harmonization of the policies and working procedures are necessary • Protection of the wild life, wild birds are necessary. Habitat improvement of the wild fauna should be tried. There are some examples of dying of mollusks, turtle and whale in the sea beach • Drinking water is major concern in the rural areas. Salinity intrusion is causing a problem. • Corruption of concerned/ responsible persons/authorities is a major impediment in effective implementation of development initiative • A port could be built at Kutubdia – Maheshkhali region • Law and order situation in the shrimp ghers is a major concern • There are examples of joint initiative of local people, local organizations, civil society, administration to protect the mangrove forests in some areas of the Cox's Bazar (Moheshkhali) which shows that administrative, political and social commitment is needed • There are examples of land use planning at local level. Inventory of the existing mangrove forests is going on and lands are identified for shrimp cultivation in moheshkhali, cox's bazar • The technologies derived from the western countries are usually very expensive and out of the reach of the poor people. Low cost appropriate technologies should be developed for better utilization by the poor people • The issue of good governance should be explicitly mentioned in the policy • The policy should be linked with the effective recognition by the lawmakers and properly backed up by laws and rules. If necessary the law should be modified. • Natural resources assessment should be carried out. • Physical communication system improvement and improvement of the law and order situation are the two key to coastal development • Beach security could be privatized

Summary of comments and suggestions given by the participants	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Gopalganj is different from actual coastal area. It has sweet water and haor dominating area. So special attention is needed. • Drainage is a major problem • Land reclamation from sea and river should be separately described • Project can be taken considering beel area. • Arsenic and safe drinking water is vital • "Khas Land distribution" ownership to women should follow the existing land policy • Special attention is needed to education and communication • Project has to be taken ensuring people participation so that investment and maintenance cost can be recovered • Livestock developments are not at all included in the policy. • Integration cannot be done without power (regarding PCO) • Special measures for utilization the water body is needed • Rules needed for the Gher owner for ensuring the benefit of the poor • Fishermen are unemployed for 4 to 5 months. Alternative work opportunities and loan can be arranged • With the change of the course of a river -some water body has developed. That can be utilized for fishery (sanctuary) • Dry fish quality is important • Ocean "tide & wave" as source of energy has to be specifically described. • The meeting should be in affected area with affected group. • Policy is needed for drought management.

Summary of comments and suggestions given by the participants	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • River erosion is a major concern for Chandpur • The water sharing arrangement with neighboring countries should be raised in the international forum and internationally recognized. The donor agencies could be instrumental in this regard • The navigability of the watercourses should be increased through dredging • The fund allocated for the project is distributed over the project period, which is most often inadequate to meet the demand. The fund could be disbursed at a time • In many cases the local people could not take over the completed projects • The issue of land settlement should be mentioned properly in the policy • Summary of the damage caused by natural disasters in the coastal zone could be mentioned • The issue of local resources and demand analysis should be specifically mentioned • Shelter for livestock should be provided during disasters • The options of solar energy could be tried out in the islands • Law and order situation in the waterways is a major concern of the administration. Poor physical and communication facilities of the administration are major causes • One of the major causes of river accidents is the improper design of the launches and watercrafts. The concerned authorities should take proper initiatives. • Licensing system to the trawlers and boats should be introduced. Preliminarily the license could be provided by the Local Government (Union Parishad) • Presence of toxic / harmful material in the shrimp is posing a major threat to the export of it. One of the sources of toxic material might be the industrial wastage discharged in the river water. In this regard an water testing laboratory could be established in Chandpur • The social condition of the women in the chars and islands is humiliating in most of the cases. This should be specifically mentioned in the policy.

District	Chandpur
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Coast guard and Police Department could take joint initiative to maintain law and order situation in the riverways • A Coastal Development and Management Board could be established to look after the implementation of CDS • In the chars and islands land reform initiatives should be strengthened • Sometimes the functioning of CBOs and subsequent natural resources management is impeded by the rules and regulations of the departments. The rules and regulations should be framed and implemented in consultation with the CBOs • The development initiatives have some environmental and health related side effect. This should be taken care off. • Concerns have been raised over the use of this kind of consultation • Forest Department has different understanding of coastal zone and considers 12 districts as coastal. So afforestation and plantation activities should be planned separately for the 12 districts and the rest of the coastal districts • To identify the localized agricultural problems a research institute could be established • Salt and shrimp cultivation practices should be modernized • Eco-tourism based on the beauty of the rivers and village areas could be developed • New lands formation in the Bay of Bengal could be accelerated by human interventions. This should be specifically mentioned in the policy • River training is necessary • Along with shrimp the problems and prospects of hilsha fish should be mentioned in the policy.

Summary of comments and suggestions given by the participants	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The issue of rehabilitation of the eroded and landless people should be specifically mentioned in the policy • Some ways to help the distressed people could be mentioned in the policy, like accelerating VGF, micro-credit, etc • The issue of Integrated Pest Management should be emphasized • Complexes / building / establishment could be set up at union level which would be used for recreation, training, mass gathering of the common people • Different departments have different rules, acts and laws. In parallel with the policies these departmental rules and acts should be coordinated • The issue of land-use planning should be emphasized in the policy. Zoning should be done • The issue of surface water conservation for irrigation in winter seasons should be mentioned in the policy • Water logging is a major concern in the district • Human settlement could be designed in Cluster Village form (land use planning?) • The officers posted in remote islands and places could be given special allowances • The name of district administration should be mentioned instead of Zilla Parishad in the organogram of PCO • Transparent khas land distribution should be included in the policy • Upazila wise landless people database should be developed • The issue of population control should be mentioned properly • Social afforestation should be done through khas land allocation • The issue of livestock should be mentioned properly • The utilization of Foreign Investment should be mentioned properly. Dependence on foreign investment should be reduced gradually. • Political commitment is the most important thing for policy implementation • Area based income generating activities could be taken • The issue of local resource use e.g.(coconut, water melon, soya bean) should be mentioned in the policy • Need assessment should be done at local level • Accountability on the development work shall be rationalized (e.g District administration are held responsible for development work implemented by NGOs but they are not accountable to district administration) • To empower the people capacity building should be done through training and awareness
